Member of American Gladiolus Society

Gladiolus culture is very easy, as they will grow in any kind of soil. Plant large bulbs about four inches deep and five or six inches apart. They need sunshine. Of course the richer soil and good cultivation will make the blooms larger.

As cut flowers, change the water each day, break off the wilted blooms and slice off a small piece of the stalk. They will last more than a week. The cooler the room the better they keep.

Dig bulbs in October. Cut off tops and dry for a week. Store in a cool, dry, non-freezing place. Save and plant the small bulblets and in two or three years they will be of blooming size.

Plenty of rain here the past season has produced bulbs of unexcelled quality. As the bulbs will last for years, if properly cared for, a good collection of gladioli will provide more flowers in a greater variety of colors and at less trouble and expense than any other flower.

We advise sending orders as soon as possible after receiving this list. Of the choicer varieties our stock is limited.

Bulbs will be sent about April first; they will then be safe from freezing.

Please write name and address very plainly.

The flowering season is July, August and September. Visitors are always welcome.

Everything quoted is always sent POSTPAID.
